

If you think a child has been, or is being maltreated, here is how to get in touch:

Our member agencies assess possible child abuse or neglect based on reports received from people like you – someone who cares about a child's well-being. Some individuals including physicians, teachers, social workers, day care providers, etc. are required by law to report their concerns to the agency. If you suspect a child is being abused or neglected, please call any of our member agencies. All have some form of emergency response available 24 hours a day, including weekends and holidays.

When making a report of child abuse or neglect, please try to provide as much of the following information as possible:

- The name and address of the child you suspect is being abused or neglected.
- The age of the child.
- The name and address of the child's parent or guardian.
- The name of the person you suspect is abusing or neglecting the child.
- The reason you suspect the child is being abused or neglected.
- Any other information you feel would be helpful to the investigation.

A report of suspected child abuse and neglect is confidential. Your identity cannot be released to anyone without your permission, except under direct order from the court. Although anonymous reports are accepted, you are encouraged to give your name to make it possible for the agency to obtain additional or clarifying information if needed. You are protected from civil or criminal liability. Ohio law protects individuals who report allegations of abuse or neglect in good faith. To make a report of child abuse or neglect, call the county where the incident occurred:
