

PCSAO Family of the Year

PCSAO wants to recognize families who have succeeded in overcoming challenges and persevered to create a loving, stable family for their own children or those placed in their care. This includes birth families who have successfully stayed together or those who have had their children reunified. It also includes kinship, foster, or adoptive families who have voluntarily opened their homes to provide temporary or permanent homes to children who needed them. Some families have been particularly skilled in helping children identify strengths and reach their fullest potential. Other families have demonstrated extraordinary efforts in the task of shared parenting with birth parents. Their accomplishments and hard work are testimony to the unique value of each and every family, and they deserve recognition as Family of the Year.

Nominated families must have current or recent involvement with the PCSA and must have succeeded in overcoming challenges and persevered to create a loving, stable family for their own children or those placed in their care.
